FormaServe has been providing IBM i training for over 25 years.

Everything from CL to Open-Source.

We never cancel our course due to low numbers.

All our courses are virtual & we can run them in your timezone.

PowerWire Monthly Newsletter - April 2024

Independent
IBM Power
News

PowerWire

Unix in the Modern IT World

In the world of operating systems, Unix is one of the foundations on which today's computing is based. Designed in the 60s and 70s at AT&T Bell Labs by Dennis Ritchie and Ken Thompson, Unix revolutionized the way computers are used. Thanks to its reliability, stability, and security, Unix and its derivatives have gained wide recognition among corporate users, academics, and technology enthusiasts worldwide.

More ...

Nano – A Great Open-Source Editor

In this article I show you how to use a great editor called Nano for any editing we have to do with files on our IFS.

Yes, I can hear half the readers screaming 'I can use Rational Developer for i!' and the other half of the readers shouting, 'I can do that with VS Code!' & I can hear all the PDM/SEU programmers keeping quiet as they would say 'Nothing to do with me! I'm an RPG programmer!'

Yes, I have heard them all over the years!

More ...

Next event

i-UG i-Power Conference 2024

18-19th June 2024
Accor Hotel Northampton UK

Keep in touch!

Mail Us

Programmers Comments of the Month

I am not responsible of this code. They made me write it, against my will.

Seen any better?

Then send them to us!